The Catherine L. Comer Chair of Fine Arts

Establishment of a new chair at Wesleyan College, known as the Catherine L. Comer Chair of Fine Arts, was made possible this year by a $50,000 endowment representing the income from a loan fund given to Wesleyan in 1920 by the late Edward Trippe Comer in memory of his mother.

Occupying the new chair and heading the department of Fine Arts is Mr. Henry Chandlee Forman, A. B., M. Arch. in Fine Arts, now candidate for the Ph.D., a graduate of Princeton and of the University of Pennsylvania, former head of the Fine Arts department of Haverford College, former Lecturer at the University of Pennsylvania, and Rutgers. Mr. Forman was chief architect of the Jamestown Archaeological Project for the U.S. Department of the Interior. He served as assistant head of the Historic American Buildings Survey, edited and improved the National Survey records in the Library of Congress. In 1940 he received a grant for study in colonial archeology from the American Council of Learned Societies. He has written three books and a number of articles for scholarly magazines.

To Offer A. B. Degree with Major in Fine Arts

On September 15 the faculty of Wesleyan College voted to offer the A. B. degree with a major or a minor in Fine Arts.

This department is unique in that it is the only History of Art department in the State of Georgia. Interesting new courses are in the history of the Arts of the New World and of the United States, and in the Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance and Modern Arts.

Head of the department at Wesleyan Conservatory is Mrs. Norman Huffman graduate of Duke University, and former head of the art department at Queens' College, Charlotte, N. C. Mrs. Huffman studied art at the Rhode Island School of Design and later was a pupil of the John Frazier School of Art, Provincetown, Mass. She has illustrated a textbook in biology, and several of her drawings will be published in Texts and Studies this winter.

It is understood that Mr. Forman and Mrs. Huffman will teach on both Wesleyan and Wesleyan Conservatory campuses,

Mr. Forman's work to be in the history of art, Mrs. Huffman's in creative art.

More than 30 new courses have been added to the curriculum in these departments, and certain courses in history and appreciation of art are open to both college and conservatory students as part of their regular classroom work.

Interesting new courses are planned in interior decorating, fashion illustration, principles of advertising design, textiles, and house designing.

The Fine Arts faculty includes: Mr. Forman, Mrs. Huffman, Mr. Marshall Daugherty, who was added to the Conservatory faculty last year in the field of sculpture, Miss Rosetta Rivers, and Miss Virginia Hall, Wesleyan alumna who was also added to the Conservatory faculty last year.

The Benefactor Who Made This Chair Possible

In 1919 Mr. Edward Trippe Comer, under whose guidance the Bibb Manufacturing Company became one of the big textile organizations in the country, gave to Wesleyan a loan fund, known as the Catherine L. Comer Fund in memory of his mother, who was Catherine Drewry, a graduate of the Wesleyan class of 1841.

According to Mr. Comer's wishes, when the fund reached a sufficient amount, the surplus might be used to establish a chair which should be named for his mother. It is interesting that the fund reached this goal on the Centennial Anniversary of Catherine (Drewry) Comer's graduation.

Edward Trippe Comer's father died when he was two years of age, and his mother, who reared a family of distinguished sons, was the object of his worshipful adoration. His interest did not stop, however, with his own family. He loved the South. He was tremendously concerned that the young men and women of the South should measure up to their opportunities and make the most of them here at home. In his will, one-third of his estate will finally go to the education of young men and women of Georgia and Alabama.

At the time of Mr. Comer's death in 1927, Mr. William D. Anderson, his friend and business associate, wrote for the Wesleyan Alumnae magazine a moving appreciation of him as an executive and as a person of great strength of character.

Mrs. Edward T. Comer, who lives in Savannah, keeps in touch with Wesleyan and was one of the contributors to the recent campaign for Wesleyan.

The Department of Religion

Trains for Christian Social Work and the Christian Home

DR. NORMAN HUFFMAN
Head of the Department

The Department of Religion includes those subjects formerly taught in the Department of Biblical Literature by Dr. George E. Rosser, and in the Department of Religious Education by Miss Lois Rogers, together with some new courses in related subjects. Following the retirement last commencement of Dr. Rosser and of Miss Rogers, the Board of Trustees elected Dr. Norman Huffman Associate Professor and Head of the Department, and Mr. Frederick Wilson, instructor in Religion.

Dr. Huffman is a magna cum laude graduate of Duke University, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He holds the S.T.M. from Harvard Divinity School, and the Ph. D. from Brown University. He is a scholar in Greek and Greek New Testament manuscripts, and was supervisor of archeological excavations on an expedition to Van, Turkey sponsored by Brown and Harvard Universities in 1939.

Mr. Frederick J. Wilson received the A.B. and the B.D. degrees from Emory

MR. FREDERICK WILSON
Instructor

University where he served as assistant pastor at Glenn Memorial Church and president of the college Y.M.C.A. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa. He is a member of the South Georgia Conference of the Methodist church, and until November served a charge at Jeffersonville, Georgia. He has been very active as director of youth work under the Board of Christian Education of the conference. His mother was Nell Whiting, of the Wesleyan class of 1911.

What Is New About the Department?

The new Department of Religion is to retain the courses in the study of the Old and New Testament, history of religion, etc., but is adding certain courses designed for practical training in two fields:

- (1) the Christian home.
- (2) Christian social service, such as work as a church secretary, or other professional religious work.

Introducing Other New Faculty Members

Dr. Dorothy Culp of Princeton, N. J. comes to Wesleyan as assistant professor of history, succeeding Dr. Janet MacDonald who resigned this summer to accept a position at Hollins College. Dr. Culp received the A.B. and M.A. degrees from Smith College, where she was graduated with summa cum laude honors and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She received the Ph. D. degree in history at the University of Chicago in 1939. She has taught at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Penn., and at New Mexico State Teachers' College, and has held research positions at Smith College and at the University of Chicago.

A reorganization in the departments of psychology and education, formerly handled by Miss Lois Rogers, who retired last Commencement, and Dr. Raleigh M. Drake, who resigned to accept a position at Mary Washington College, brought two new Ph. D. professors to Wesleyan in these fields.

Dr. Bailey Wade, professor of education, former dean of Piedmont College, received his A.B. degree from Ogden College, Bowling Green, Kentucky, his M.A.

DR. DOROTHY CULP
History

from Indiana University and his Ph. D. from Peabody College. His 15 years' teaching experience includes some years at the University of Tennessee and at Western Kentucky State Teachers' College.

DR. BAILEY WADE
Psychology and Education

at Wesleyan Conservatory, she has charge of all string music in the Milledgeville schools, and is concert master of the G.S.C.W. orchestra.

Miss Lee Rees, Wesleyan graduate in 1940, is assistant librarian, succeeding Frances Staley who resigned to accept a business position in Atlanta. Lee received the B.S. degree in library science at Emory University Library School this summer.

Miss Alice Domingos, A.B. 1940, is assistant in the registrar's office at Wesleyan Conservatory. Alice took a business course last year, and spent much of the past summer assisting in the dean's and registrar's offices at the college to learn the work.

DR. ISABELLA THOBURN
Psychology and Education

Mrs. Nannye Pittman of LaFayette has been added to the staff as assistant to Miss Nannette Rozar, college dietitian. Mrs. Pittman is a graduate of Rinehart College and was for two years dietitian of Andrew College in Cuthbert. Before coming to Wesleyan she was affiliated with the Y.W.C.A. in Atlanta.

Miss Frances Strohecker of Macon is secretary to Vice-President Silas Johnson, succeeding Mrs. B. W. Speight who resigned to accept a business position in her home town, Albany, Ga. Miss Strohecker has served as secretary to Dr. George Stoves of Mulberry Street Methodist Church, and to Dr. Edmund F. Cook, former pastor of Mulberry and Vineville churches.

Miss Beatrice Horsbrugh is head of the violin department at Wesleyan Conservatory succeeding Mrs. Glenn Priest Maerz, who has been ill following a stroke of paralysis last May. Miss Horsbrugh was born in Surrey, England, but is now a naturalized American citizen. She studied with the late Cesar Thompson at the Brussels Conservatory in Belgium, with Leopold Auer in Russia, and in Germany and in New York. In 1937 she became associate professor of the Royal College of Music in London. Besides her work

MISS VIRGINIA CARLTON
Mathematics

Miss Annabel Horn, A.B. 1907, must also be counted with the new faculty members, although announcement of her election and picture appeared in a former issue of The Wesleyan Alumnae. As dean and registrar of Wesleyan Conservatory she has taken hold of that institution's problems with characteristic energy and efficiency. All matters of curriculum and policy must be referred to her, and already one can see many instances of her expert management and keen judgment. In addition to her work at the conservatory she teaches one class in Latin at the college in which she is trying an interesting experiment in teaching the classics. She attended the North Carolina Educational Conference in Asheville, N.

C., in October, where she spoke on "Trends in the Teaching of Latin".

Miss Gladys Pinkston, although she came to Wesleyan Conservatory last year, has not been introduced to the alumnae through the magazines. She is head of the conservatory juvenile department, is a graduate of Huntington College in Montgomery, and holds the M.A. degree from Columbia University.

Miss Katharine P. Carnes, librarian, attended the biennial meeting of the Georgia Library Association in October, presiding as chairman over two sessions of the college section. During the summer she edited and wrote in part a pamphlet on the Candler Memorial Library, which was printed as one of the quarterly college bulletins. Her article on "The Georgia Room" constitutes about half the material in the pamphlet. The second article, "The MacGregor Plan" was written by Dr. Randolph G. Adams, librarian of the William L. Clements Library at Ann Arbor, Michigan. It tells of a fund established by the late Tracy W. MacGregor for the purchase of rare books for college libraries. Through this fund Wesleyan receives $500 a year for rare books.

Miss Mildred Cartledge, head of the physical education department, spent the past summer in graduate study at the University of Wisconsin taking courses in organization and administration in the physical education department, current problems in physical education, extra-curricular program, and rhythmic analysis of form. She studied with Miss Marguerite Schwarz, officer of the national Physical Education Association; Miss Blanche Trilling, head of the department at Wisconsin; and Miss Margaret H'Doubler, head of the dance department.

Marshall Daugherty, instructor in sculpturing composition at the conservatory, has announced a new course in creative modeling for children of primary and elementary age.

Roy Domingos, who last year held a fellowship in music at Wesleyan Conservatory, is this year a member of the conservatory faculty, in the department of theory. Roy holds the B.M. degree from Wesleyan, and has done graduate study at the Juilliard School of Music.

MISS BEATRICE HORSBRUGH
Violin

New Dean of Women and Hostesses

MRS. C. K. C. ANSLEY
Hostess

Miss Katherine Johnson of New York succeeds Miss Carrie Belle Vaughan, resigned, as dean of women at Wesleyan College. Miss Johnson received her A.A. Certificate from Howard-Payne, her B.A. degree from Central College, her M.A. from the University of Chicago. During the past summer she received a professional diploma as dean of women from Columbia University. Formerly she was head of the department of English and later dean of Hiroshima Girls' School in Japan. She teaches one course in English in the college in addition to her work as dean of women.

Mrs. C. K. C. Ausley of Thomasville, who was Ella Flowers of the Wesleyan class of 1907, holds the newly created position of college hostess. She shares social administrative duties with Miss Johnson. The role of hostess is one into which Mrs. Ausley fits with ease. Her lovely home in Thomasville was widely known for its gracious hospitality. Her husband was before his death in 1939 a prominent business man of Thomasville, a leader in his church and in all cultural activities of the section. Her understanding of young people comes naturally from contact with the friends of her two young sons, Bobby and Bert.

MISS KATHERINE JOHNSON
Dean of Women

Mrs. Lawrence Gray is assistant hostess, also a new position at the college. Mrs. Gray's girlhood home was historic Darien, Georgia, but she has lived in a number of south Georgia towns as the wife of a Methodist minister of the South Georgia Conference and former professor at Andrew College. The Rev. Gray died in 1938 while serving a pastorate in Perry, Ga.

MRS. LAWRENCE GRAY
Assistant Hostess

Mrs. Gray and her daughter, Laurel Dean, a senior in high school, live on the Wesleyan campus in Sophomore Hall.

servatory, Mrs. Lula Johnson Comer continuing as dean of women and official hostess. Mrs. Page is a widow, formerly a public school teacher, and has two lovely daughters at the conservatory this year, Martha as a senior, and Catherine as a freshman.

A. B. Degree With a Major in Speech

The Department of Speech has made important changes. Beginning this year, students may receive the A.B. degree with either a major or a minor in speech. Class work in speech is open to students at both institutions without extra charge. Miss Ruth Jean Simonson continues as head of the department.

Mrs. Anne Frierson Griffin of Kingstree, S. C. was elected assistant professor in the department. Mrs. Griffin received the A.B. degree from Columbia College, S. C., the M.S. degree from Northwestern. As a professional artist she has appeared in recital-lectures throughout the United States. She has had three years' teaching experience. She received the National Collegiate Players' key for distinction in play-writing.

Miss Alfred Merle Dorman and Miss Kathryn Hopper, Wesleyan graduates of 1940 and 1941, hold fellowships in the department of speech. Alfred Merle studied last year at Northwestern under Miss Winifred Ward, and will have charge of the juvenile work in the speech department. Kitty studied during the summer after graduation at Wesleyan under Miss Simonson at the Conservatory.

The Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Atlanta voted recently to use $300 in their treasury to redecorate the studios of the speech department. Louise (Davis) Davison made a trip to the Conservatory from Atlanta this fall to talk over plans, and work has already begun.

The department has also purchased a new curtain for the stage at the Conservatory from the proceeds of several benefit performances put on last year.

Wesleyan Opens With Bishop Moore as President

Wesleyan College and Conservatory opened in September with substantial increases in enrollment in both institutions.

On September 17 Bishop Arthur J. Moore, new president of Wesleyan, said to the students in his opening address:

It is a happy privilege to welcome you to Wesleyan. For more than a century this college has stood as one of the indispensable institutions of our Southland. An unnumbered company of graduates have gone from these halls to live in gracious and glowing loveliness. They have made, and are making, their contribution to every worthy movement of our civilization.

We do well to pause and salute the founders and supporters of Wesleyan. In this world there are no riches of greater value than the heritage which has been bequeathed to us by these noble men and women. By their vision, their slow and painful striving, they wrought out for us the privileges we now enjoy. They refused to live in selfish isolation, but labored that we might be richer in knowledge and opportunity. We cannot make an inventory of our assets and leave out what they gave us. The memory of their devotion and service helps us to upward-looking, clearer knowledge, a better comprehension of the dignity and sacredness of truth and to exalting ideals of character. The broadening horizons, within which we move, and the clearer skies into which we gaze, are not the result of our own striving, but rewards of their patient and sacrificial living. To remember them kindles in our breasts high aspirations to do and be something worthwhile. To forget them would be to play the part of those who stand in the midst of a vast wealth of beauty with no eyes to see, or those who, surrounded by an atmosphere vibrant with the notes of rarest music, have no ears to hear. Without these far-visioned men and women there would have been no Wesleyan College.

You come now to take your place in that noble succession. It is painfully true that your "college days" come during a time of crisis in world affairs, but it is neither wise nor necessary to turn pessimist and thus blind yourselves to the glories and opportunities of the day in which you are to live. I would not want you to live in a make-believe world. You must always look clear-eyed at life, but you must prepare yourselves to discover and appreciate the many promising and helpful movements for good going on in the world, even in a time like this. When the best lives and the best deeds of any one of the so-called best periods of the past are brought forward and set down side by side with the best lives and the best deeds of the present, we discover that there are as many good men and women today as in any other age. This is my way of saying that you are the worthy daughters of noble parents and that you are fully prepared to carry on the best traditions of Wesleyan. I trust that you believe in yourselves, and that you have come with eyes on fire with golden expectation, and with hearts aglow, with a belief in the great things you may do in the future.

There is rejoicing in our hearts today because of the remarkable strides Wesleyan has made in recent months and years. The financial problems of the college have been adjusted. We still need additional funds to meet some remaining obligations, but the crisis has been passed and the future of Wesleyan is assured. To all the friends who, by gifts large or small, have made this possible, we extend sincere thanks and renew our pledge that Wesleyan shall ever remain worthy of the faith and support of all good men and women who seek truth, follow noble ideals, and honor God.

It is well that we remind ourselves on this happy occasion that Christian education is the spring from which has flowed our sacred liberties, our unfettered consciences, as well as our best hopes and noblest ideals.

Somewhere in my reading I found an article by an unknown author entitled, "The Church College Speaks".

"I am the church college.

"I am the oldest institution of learning in America. Before there had been state universities or other institutions of college rank, I had been founded. For three hundred years I have served my country well. Three centuries of achievement vindicate my right to be.

"I stand for life's highest ideals. I search for truth, believing God's universe is fireproof, and that I may light the torch of Truth everywhere. I lay emphasis upon genuine scholarship. My graduates are among the nation's greatest scholars.

"I believe in God. In the student's expanding circle of adjustment. I open wide the portal to the unseen world of the spirit. My sons and daughters are men and women of vision and spiritual power.

"I train for service. Through me culture dominates the work of the world. I give leadership to the nation. From

RECEIVING LINE AT THE RECEPTION FOR NEW OFFICIALS AND STUDENTS

On October 3, Wesleyan Alumnae entertained with a reception honoring the new faculty, officials, and students. Sue (Tanner) McKenzie, of Atlanta, national president of the Alumnae Association, came down for the occasion.

me have come presidents, governors, legislators, judges, educators, editors in greater proportion than from any other source. Upon me the church depends for its preachers, its teachers, its missionaries—all its leaders. Without me the work of the church could not go on.

"I deserve your support. I receive from each student less than half the cost of what I give. From me the poor are not turned away. I cannot continue the splendid record of the past unless I have your help.

"I am the church college. I need your prayers and your gifts."

There are those who regard education as something apart from the training of our spiritual natures but no education can be considered adequate which leaves out these spiritual capacities. Life does not consist in going and coming, buying and selling, eating and drinking. There are other tasks which must receive our attention and challenge our powers. It therefore follows that to claim that one is educated simply because he has been well-instructed in the arts and the sciences, history and literature or in anything which leaves out these higher ranges of our nature is to hold a false interpretation of education. Education to be ideal and adequate must make us better as well as intelligent. Whatever our intellectual furnishing may be, however gifted we may become in the management of the affairs of life, there will be something lacking in our efficiency and in our happiness unless we have learned to bow down in reverent humility before the Eternal Wisdom, and have been informed and quickened by the vitalizing and immortal truths which fell from the lips of the Son of God.

Seated at my desk recently thinking of the responsibilities of all of us who are to be your friends and teachers, and remembering that you have come up from every section and quarter of this and other states with your eager expectations, I asked myself: "What kind of college do you really want Wesleyan to be? What do you want to happen to these splendid young women who compose its student body?" As far as I can state it, here is my dream and hope.

First: To help you set your life in the right direction. To assist you in making use of the vast and varied resources which are at hand for living your lives on a larger scale. To give you a philosophy that will save you from going into life to be indifferent spectators, blind and deaf to all that is going on in the world, and which will help you cherish some large and commanding interest in the welfare of mankind.

Second: To help you secure an education so thorough and complete that it will furnish the secret of effective living, an education that will give your life some great purpose, some onward thrust, some high and worthy goal. An education that will give you a keen and aggressive sense of the everlasting distinction between truth and falsehood, right and wrong. An education that will enable you to see and seize upon a goodness that is good for something in society as a whole, so that you may help conserve what is most worth conserving.

out of the past and by your living to insure progress in the future.

Third: That you may come to a tender, intelligent and constantly increasing faith in God. A faith that will empty your hearts of worry, your minds of anxiety, a faith that will help you discover the source of contentment. A faith that will reveal to you the secret of radiant living in which fear gives way to faith and cowardice to courage, so that across your tomorrow's duty will not be a drudgery but the "dear delight of doing good".

To serve you in the pursuit of these high and difficult ideals will be my highest joy and most sacred duty.

Introducing The New Students

Among the new students is Harry Edwards, granddaughter of the late Harry Stillwell Edwards, noted author of "Eneas Africanus," and life-time friend of Wesleyan.

Mary Brown Malone of Albany is a great niece of Susan (Malone) Persons of the class of 1862, who was an official of Wesleyan in the 1880's. During Wesleyan's centennial year her son, Charles A. Persons of Worcester, gave a scholarship to Wesleyan in her memory, making the gift through his mother's friend, Lillian (Roberts) Solomon of the class of 1876. Mary Brown is also a niece by marriage of the late Professor Leon P. Smith, beloved dean of Wesleyan College.

At the college, 135 freshmen overflowed the freshman building and it was necessary to put some of the class in other buildings. It is the largest class since 1925! The total enrollment at the college is 20 per cent above that of last year.

The conservatory had a similar increase in enrollment, and the Georgia Building, unused for twelve years, was redecorated and opened as a dormitory.

About 67 per cent of the students at Wesleyan come from Georgia, the rest from fourteen states and two foreign countries including: Alabama, Florida, Arkansas, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Washington, D. C., Virginia, Korea, and the Philippines.

One freshman, Pauline Domingos, represents the fourth generation of her family to come to Wesleyan. Her mother, Lucia (Chappell) Domingos, is a national officer of the Alumnae Association, and a former president of the Macon Alumnae Club. Besides her mother, grandmother, and great grandmother, seven aunts and many cousins attended Wesleyan.

Stevens Dessau, a special student this year, is great granddaughter, granddaughter, and niece of Wesleyan alumnae.

Restoration of Original Adelphean Hall

By Frances (Peabody) McKay, A.B. '25, daughter of Mary (Hitch) Peabody, A.B. '95 (Alpha); granddaughter of Fannie (Myers) Hitch, A.B. '68 (Alpha); great granddaughter of Dr. Edward Howell Myers, faculty advisor of the founders of the Adelphean Society.

Restoration of the original Adelphean Hall at Wesleyan Conservatory in celebration of the 90th anniversary of its founding this year, was proposed by Dr.

Sara Branham at the national Alpha Delta Pi Convention at Hot Springs, Virginia this past summer.

The national organization voted to sponsor the restoration, and Dr. Branham was made general chairman in charge of contributions. A local committee was appointed from the Macon alumnae chapter to be responsible for the details of furnishing the room.

Adelpheans are fortunate in having among their number Minnie (Bass) Burden, who has been in constant touch with Wesleyan since 1859 when at the age of three she came there to live with her father, Dr. William Capers Bass, professor and president of Wesleyan for 35 years.

Mrs. Burden became an Adelphean in 1869 as a sub-freshman. Later she was married in the old Adelphean Hall.

This hall is the one used from 1851 until the college was remodelled in 1881 with the George I. Seney gift. It is on the main floor and has an entrance on the front porch, to the left of the doorway. The tablet which is now being made and will be the gift of the National Council will be placed to the right of this entrance.

The original silver door plate, made in the shape of a diamond, has been preserved through the years and was returned as soon as the suggestion was made that the room be restored. This will be put back in its original place on the door. Still in existence also is the old transom which has on it the shield and clasped hands done in stained glass. This will be put over the inside door of the hall.

A suitable marker will be put on the fifth floor hall which was the home of the Adelpheans from 1881 to 1913.

"The two sorority halls were the only parlors of the college," says Mrs. Burden,

"and were furnished in mahogany parlor furniture of that period. I remember the divan, or sofa, was covered with horse-hair and the tall bookcase had glass doors and a cabinet at the bottom where we kept our secrets." (Her eyes twinkled at the mention of these secrets.)

"The windows had lace curtains with blue draperies, held with brass tie-backs. It was the job of the active members to devote the entire day to polishing those tie-backs whenever there was an entertainment in the parlor. The floor was covered with a Brussels carpet in a floral design."

Mrs. Burden describes the mantel as being very high and tells of the John and Charles Wesley candlesticks which adorned it. Gas was put in at the college about the time she was initiated.

She remembers a copy of the Madonna of the Chair which hung on the wall and also a pair of chromos showing the leave-taking and return of a soldier. It is the dream of the committee to have portraits of some of the founders for the walls of the restored room.

Mrs. Burden's two daughters, Octavia (Burden) Stewart and Alice (Burden) Domingos, together with Annie (Gantt) Anderson and Clare (Johnson) Walker, form the committee for refurnishing the hall. Other committees will be named in the near future to gather interesting material to be placed in the room, such as a permanent exhibit of Alpha Delta Pi badges, especially the older "Adelphian pins."

The plan is to allow the funds for purchasing certain furnishings of the room to be given by individuals or chapters throughout the membership of eighteen thousand. Dr. Sara Branham, United States Public Health Service, Bethesda, Maryland, will receive all contributions. She will write to each of the chapters giving further details.

MEETING OF ALUMNAE BOARD

The regular fall meeting of the Wesleyan Alumnae Board took the form this year of a delightful luncheon at the home of Lucia (Chappell) Domingos in Macon.

Sixteen Macon and out-of-town members of the Board met to discuss work for the year. Sue (Tanner) McKenzie, of Atlanta, national president, outlined plans for the "Relief to China" fund, which is to be the main project of the Alumnae Association for the coming year.

Mary (Park) Polhill of LaGrange was the out-of-town alumnae trustee present for the meeting.

After the business session, Lucia served lunch to the sixteen guests.

COLUMBUS CLUB

The Columbus Wesleyan Club has thrown its energies whole-heartedly into defense activities. The first meeting of the year was held in the Red Cross Room where members worked for several hours on surgical bandages.

The club, with Patsy (Howard) Long as president, voted to help with the fund for Chinese Relief which is being raised by the Alumnae Association.

The Columbus Club has a scholarship girl at Wesleyan this year, Mary Rebecca Shipley. The secretary, Woodie (Schley) Campbell, sent to the Alumnae Office a corrected list of members of the club, and also clippings of news stories written by the publicity director, Minnie (Smith) Ziegler.

DUBLIN CLUB

Annie (Simons) Smith, president of the Dublin Wesleyan Club, entertained at her home in September with a bridge party for the benefit of the Wesleyan Scholarship which the Dublin club gave this year.

Assisting the president were her mother, Mary (Pickens) Simons, '88, her daughters, Marianne Smith, '39, and Dotte Smith, a member of the sophomore class at Wesleyan; and Nida (McGehee) Ferrell, Lois (Vaughn) Adams, Maxine (Baldwin) Schaufele, Gladys (Hodges) Peters, and others.

Martha Weaver of Dudley has the honor of holding this club scholarship to Wesleyan Conservatory.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. CLUB

Mary Miller, A.B. 1924, is the newly elected president of the Jacksonville, Fla. Wesleyan Club, succeeding Elizabeth (Brodgon) Tart. A letter from Mary asks for the names of all the Wesleyan alumnae who have recently moved to Jacksonville.

MACON CLUB

The Macon Club, with Marie (Adams) Timmerman as president, has as its two-fold project this year the raising of its share of the alumnae fund for Relief to China, and the raising of money for the Macon Club's Scholarships for Miller High School girls at Wesleyan.

Group Chairmen of the Macon Club are: Group I, Theo Tinsley; Group II, Estelle (Stevens) Macon; Group III, Elizabeth (Loyall) Woods; Group IV, Dorothy Simmons; Group V, Jane (Huckabee) Miller; Group V, Madge (Kennon) Hatcher.

MILLEN CLUB

The Wesleyan Club of Millen met at the home of the president, Charlotte (Tyus) Dekle, on November 8. Jane Mulkey, Wesleyan student at home for the fall holidays, spoke to the club about recent changes at Wesleyan. The club is planning to join the Miller P.-T.A. in sponsoring a Wesleyan speaker in Millen in January.

THOMSON CLUB

Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore writes that the Wesleyan Club of Thomson has some big plans for their fall meeting, but cannot announce them yet.

WASHINGTON, D. C. CLUB

The Washington D. C. Club had a luncheon during the summer in honor of groups, and each group has charge of

WESLEYAN GRADUATE PUBLISHES THIRD VOLUME

WILLIE SNOW ETHRIDGE

Willie (Snow) Ethridge, Class Secretary of 1920, is having the thrilling experience of watching the sales of her third book, published this year by Macmillan, mounting high.

"I'll Sing One Song" follows the author's earlier "As I Live and Breathe" and "Mingled Yarn". It tells in Willie's delightfully informal and humorous style of the everyday happenings in the Ethridge family, of Mark, Sr., who is editor of the Courier Journal and Louisville Times, and of "the offspring", who used to be known as "The Unholy Three", but are now four, with baby David a very important member.

Willie's college friends will be especially interested in her reference to herself as "hard-boiled egg chairman" of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association in the old Macon days.

On November 21 Willie was guest speaker, with John Erskine, at the banquet of the National Council of Teachers of Speech in Atlanta. On November 25 she was guest speaker Wesleyan College at the morning chapel period.

In the Reader's Digest for October, 1941, under "Picturesque Speech and Pattern" was this quotation from Willie Snow Ethridge: "Oaks lipsticked with autumn".

Wesleyan Receives Collection of Petrified Woods

By ELLA CLARE McKELLAR, A.B. '07

Ella Clare is the sister of Col. Rex MacKellar, and spent the month of July with him, sharing his enthusiasm for woods and agates. She transported, arranged, and cataloged his collection at Wesleyan.

COL. REX MacKELLAR

When the girls arrived at Wesleyan in September they found a museum case of petrified woods and agates, collected mainly in the west, and placed there by Col. Harry Rex MacKellar, brother of Prof. I. E. McKellar. Col. McKellar was an honor graduate of Emory in 1901. He taught several years each in Key West, Florida, the Americus High School, and in Shellman was Superintendent. He has a degree from the University of Chicago, and was awarded the Surgery prize when he graduated from Jefferson Medical in Philadelphia. He then entered the Army and since that time has had few opportunities to visit his native state.

When serving in Washington, D. C. he met Miss Jane Scott whom he married while stationed at Camp Dix, New Jersey. He has served a series of years each in Denver, El Paso, San Francisco, and Hawaii, two series in the Philippines, and is now a second time at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, where he is Post Surgeon. He has a daughter Jean, who is a Junior at Stanford University, California, and a son Donald, is a first year student in New Mexico Military Institute.

Col. MacKellar has a deep appreciation for the beauties of nature, and for many years has had a practical interest in the geology of his surroundings, but it was not until a visit to the Petrified Forest of Arizona in 1935 that he began seriously the hobby of petrified woods. Since then, wherever he has travelled, most of his spare time has been devoted to museums, mineral collections, agate shops, and interviews with people interested in petrified woods. He has also scanned mountain sides, quarries, and beaches for first hand specimens.

The amazing richness of the far West both in variety and high quality of petrified materials, and the scarcity of such things in the South has been an added stimulus for the collection. Many specimens are highly colored, and often preserve the original rings and radial structure of the wood, although some are so completely transformed that little of the structure remains except the outer form or bark. Those belonging to tropical species now extinct, reveal changes of climate in past aeons of history. One specimen shows that it was crushed into small pieces by some disaster, then buried and welded together again by petrification. Another piece was teredo bored first, then as it agatized, some of the holes were filled with opal.

Besides samples of oak and araucaria pine, which are plentiful in any of the great museums, there are sections of butternut mahogany, ginkgo, cypress, spruce, she oak or beefwood, palm, and a number unknown. The choicest petrified woods are the agatized, jasperized, and opalized, and are really a part of the great family of silicon formations. They are not only beautiful in color, varying from brilliant to delicate, but are exceedingly hard, taking a very high polish. They belong to the same semi-precious family of chalcidony, onyx, carnelian, chrysoprase, sardonyx, amethyst, and quartz. Naturally then, it is almost impossible to collect petrified woods without also developing a taste for agates, which often resemble, but have no relation to wood. They may be pure and clear, but are more interesting when they contain impurities making them rutilated, colored or ribboned, and when they are intricately designed with figures and are called "moss" agates, highly prized for their uniqueness, as well as durability.

Such hard materials have taken a long time to develop, probably millions of years, and it is perhaps true that the older, the better they are. The superiority of the Australian opal in cutting quality is thought by some to be due solely to its great age, the American fire opals being comparatively young and very brittle. "Thunder eggs" are formed in the bubbles or cavities left in volcanic rock which is later covered periodically for ages with water carrying free silicon, and other minerals which produce color and design.

Some of the petrified woods, and certain minerals such as wernerite, willemite, calcite, and fluorite, are highly fluorescent; that is to say, in ordinary light they are very sombre materials but take on gorgeous and very unexpected colors under ultra-violet and quartz lights. Some of the specimens are also phosphorescent.

There are other petrified specimens in the collection which are not woods such as: (1) Amber, or petrified gum from the Philippines, and Africa; (2) A slab of agatized mud full of tower shells; (3) A section of a walrus tooth with the pulp completely agatized but the ivory showing the original structure perfectly; (4) A rare Patagonian pine cone; and (5) A section of a Wyoming dinosaur's bone.

BISHOP WARREN A. CANDLER

DIES

Bishop Warren A. Candler, 84-year old patriarch of Southern Methodism, died on September 25, ending a career which raised him from a junior circuit rider to acclaim as evangelical titan of a passing Southern era.

As president of Emory College at Oxford he was a potent influence in the lives of his "boys". As Bishop of the Methodist Church, as director in the mission fields of Cuba, Japan, Korea, and China, as author and as powerful preacher he will be remembered by thousands.

His associations with Wesleyan College were many. On the day that the college first opened its doors at Rivoli, in 1928, he made a stirring address tracing the story of Wesleyan through the years since its founding, an address which was printed in the Wesleyan Alumnae and is often referred to as source material on the history of the college.

His only daughter, Florence (Candler) Sledd, is a graduate of Wesleyan in the class of 1895. His brother, Judge John S. Candler, gave to Wesleyan the beautiful library building on the Rivoli campus as a memorial to their father and mother. One of his two surviving sons, Samuel Charles Candler, married Frances Godfrey of the class of 1913.

GIFT TO HISTORICAL COLLECTION

Just as the magazine went to press we received from Dr. E. A. Tignor of Milledgeville the diploma which his mother, the former Martha Stinson, received at Wesleyan in 1854.

This is an interesting addition to the Historical Collection, and is the only diploma of this date in the collection. Dr. Tignor, a prominent and public-spirited citizen of Milledgeville, has become deeply interested in the history of Georgia, and it is because of this interest that he decided to place his mother's diploma in the Wesleyan collection for safe keeping. It was brought to Wesleyan by Miss Hallie Smith of Milledgeville, a niece of the late Dean Leon P. Smith of Wesleyan.

Among the old catalogs at Wesleyan is one for 1851-52 which has Martha Stinson's name as a sophomore.

COUNTY HISTORY ADDS TO COLLECTION

Leah Kittrell of Dublin has recently sent the History of Laurens County to the collection of county histories in the library.

Wesleyan now has most of the published histories of Georgia counties, the gifts of individual alumnae and alumnae clubs over the state. Leah Kittrell, a member of the D.A.R. Chapter which is responsible for the book, has helped to edit the volume. It is especially interesting to Wesleyan because of the family histories of Wesleyan alumnae and present students found in its pages.

The Wesleyan Tapestry

THE LEON PERDUE SMITH TABLET

This tablet honors the memory of this late Dean of Wesleyan, beloved by hundreds of Wesleyan girls. It is one of the special size tablets, and will be placed in the Science Building, where Dean Smith taught his class in physics, chemistry, and geology. It represents the gifts of three of his co-workers, Dr. S. L. Akers, the present dean, Dr. G. W. Gignilliat, and Dr. Claude Bruce.

After long and unavoidable delay, due to the defense program, Wesleyan has received all of the bronze tablets which are to adorn the walls of the college and conservatory as a reminder of the friends who helped the college during its recent crisis.

The beautiful tablets, 129 in number, range in size from the plates 9 inches in length by 4½ inches high for the dormitory rooms, to the five-foot library tablet, which carries 450 names. They are a soft green in color with lettering in gold, and all who have seen them declare that they represent the best workmanship of the Gorham Company, known as masters of their craft.

The room plates carry the name of the donor or of some one whom he wished to honor, in raised block letters. In some cases, there is also the date of the honoree's graduation at Wesleyan. Around the edge is a simple gold band which frames the letters in their green background.

For the parlors, tablets 9 inches by 12 inches, with sprays of ivy at the top, have been used.

Certain special tablets, placed by vote of the Board of Trustees, will mark the various buildings and the main entrance loggia at Rivoli. These are in varying sizes, with designs of ivy on borders or top, but all are in beautiful tones of green bronze of small tablets.

The date for the occasion will be set for after the Christmas holidays some time during the second semester, in accordance with the plans of President Arthur J. Moore, who is to be the principal speaker.

Alumnae are cordially invited to come back for the dedication ceremonies. Some alumnae clubs are already planning to come in a body, and other groups are making plans. Engraved invitations will go to all who are represented on the tablets, and to their friends whose names have been sent to the committee in charge.

A special program is being planned by the speech and physical education departments, with the students of the college and conservatory taking part.

The securing of these tablets, which will record Wesleyan's appreciation to her friends, represents the long and faithful efforts of the Committee on Memorials, headed by Alleen (Poer) Hinton. Selected with excellent taste, they will add to the beauty of the campus, and will serve to remind future generations of the host of friends who believe in Wesleyan.

The Catherine L. Comer Fund

By Miss Banks Armand, formerly Bursar, now in charge of the Wesleyan Student Bank and Book Store.

On December 11, 1919, during the administration of President Charles R. Jenkins, there came to Wesleyan College a gift of $50,000.00, establishing a loan fund to assist worthy Wesleyan College students.

This gift came from Mr. Edward T. Comer, of Savannah, Ga., in the form of fifty $1,000.00 4 3/4% Victory Bonds, with the coupons, payable December 15, 1919, attached. In the deed of gift this fund was dedicated to the memory of his mother, one of the first graduates of Wesleyan College, and was to be known as the Catherine L. Comer Loan Fund.

The $50,000.00 was to constitute the principal and to be kept intact as such; only the interest on the investment of this principal and interest on loans to students to be used as a loan fund.

Through the twenty-one years this fund has been operating, it has accumulated to September 15, 1941 by interest on the principal and interest on loans to students, the sum of $68,708.00.

Simple interest at 5% is charged on loans to students, beginning, not while they are students at Wesleyan College, but from the date of their leaving.

Including the past year, 1940-41, 525 students have been helped through this fund; loans totaling $124,573.00 have been made, an average loan of $238.00 per student. Repayments on these loans amounted to $90,849.00, an average of $213.75 per student, plus $20.00 average interest per student.

EDWARD TRIPPE COMER

Approved applications for 1941-42 for additional loans amount to $550.00 and for first loans, $2,750.00.

No gift more worthwhile has been made to Wesleyan College. Many students who have had the use of this loan fund have made an enviable record for themselves and are an honor to Mr. Comer and Wesleyan College.

WESLEYAN REPRESENTATIVE AT FORDHAM CENTENNIAL

Mamie Harmon, A.B. 1926, represented Wesleyan College at the Centenary Celebration of Fordham University in New York, September 15 and 16.

When Mamie was at home for a visit in October she gave a most interesting account of the occasion, which included addresses by distinguished speakers and a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

Mamie is one of the associate editors of Funk and Wagnalls, publishers of encyclopedias. During the past two years she has spent much time in addition editing a book, "The Natural Way to Draw," written by her former teacher of art, Kimon Nicolaides, and published November 4 by Houghton Mifflin.

Alumnae Office Staff To Attend Meeting

Miss Jennie Loyall, Alumnae Secretary, is program chairman of District III Regional Conference of the American Alumni Council to hold its annual meeting in Columbia, S. C. in early December. During the summer she made a trip to the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia, to discuss plans for the meeting with Mr. Charles P. McCurdy, chairman of District III.

Miss Loyall and Miss Eunice Thomson will represent Wesleyan at the Columbia meeting.

Editorial Note:

As the magazine goes to press we note how many alumnae have relatives in service for national defense. We think it will be of interest to give in a future issue of the magazine the names of all alumnae, or their husbands, brothers, sons, or grandsons who are employed by our country in the present emergency.

If we do not already have a record of it, will you send us right away the service record of yourself or any member of your family who is engaged in national defense?

1841

In May of this year the Wesleyan Alumnae magazine used material about some members of the class of 1841, the second class to graduate at Wesleyan, with the request that anyone who knew about other members of the class send it to the Alumnae Office.

During the summer a letter came from

Annie Eliza Randle Goins of Union Springs, Ala., saying:

"A friend in Shellman, Ga., sent me the Wesleyan Alumnae in which she had marked my grandmother's name, Mary C. Powell, a graduate of 1841. I have my grandmother's obituary from which I will quote and add other items of interest:

"Died at her father's residence on Chunnenugee Ridge, Macon County, Alabama, on the 30th of January, 1848, Mrs. Mary C. Carter, second daughter of Dr. N. B. and Mrs. E. A. Powell, and consort of James F. Carter of Milledgeville, Ga., age 23.

"When the Georgia Female College was established and its doors thrown open for the reception of pupils, Mary C. Powell was among the first to enter its classic halls. At the annual commencement in 1841, she graduated with highest honors of her class, and repaired to her home in Alabama to be the joy of her parents, the idol of their hearts."

"Dr. N. B. Powell is remembered for the zeal and interest he manifested in the establishment of the Georgia Female College, while a member of the Georgia Legislature. Citizens of Macon, Ga., presented him with a very handsome silver pitcher and silver dipper in appreciation of his efforts. This pitcher and dipper passes down to the eldest Powell in each generation.

"Mary (Powell) Carter left an infant daughter, Mary (called 'Minnie') who grew to girlhood, attended Wesleyan in the 1860's, married in 1866 Capt. E. Troup Randle, a gallant Confederate soldier. To them were born seven children, the eldest daughter, Annie Eliza Randle, being the third generation to attend Wesleyan. She was at college in 1883 and '84."

Mary (Ponder) Hatch of 1911 writes, "In the summer issue of the Alumnae Magazine, I noticed the name of Tabitha White among the graduates of 1841 whose married names were not known. She was my mother's aunt and married a Mr. Cargile,—in the family records labeled 'Wash'—it may stand for Washington or be a nickname,—I've never known, though Mama often spoke of Tabitha."

Among the new girls this fall is Ann Nesbitt of Cordele, granddaughter of Mary (MacGregor) Nesbitt, and great niece of Mary's twin sister, Martha (MacGregor) Mayo of the class of 1871. Martha died within very recent years, but Mary is living in Albany, Ga., with three of her four daughters. Ann Nesbitt, freshman, was very much interested in seeing the names of her grandmother and aunt on an Adelphian program of 1868, the program on which Sidney Lanier played a flute solo.

Mary (MacGregor) Nesbitt's children are: Mae Nesbitt, Mrs. E. D. Anderson, Mrs. Bill Erwin, Mrs. Erling Grovenstein, Thoms, Jim and John Nesbitt. Another son, MacGregor Nesbitt, died last year.

Ida (Frazer) Turrentine was an interesting visitor to the old and new campuses in September. She visited for two months in North Carolina and in Georgia during the summer. She writes:

"I am more proud, each day, that I am a graduate from Wesleyan. Well do I remember the college of 1870's. Those days were happy, never to be forgotten ones. I can picture our baths being taken in the basins, behind our wardrobes for we had no closet in our rooms. I remember 'Aunt Cindy' too, she brought in the water, coal and kindling.

"Dr. Cosby Smith did have a name for girls in classes. I remember mine was 'Bunch'. We loved him very dearly, he understood us so well.

"We girls loved Dr. Myers also. He had a manner so that you could approach at any time, something like carrying problems to our fathers.

"Seventy-one years have come and gone since those happy days, but I remember them with pleasure, as though only a short time ago it all happened."

1875

Word has come to the Alumnae Office of the death on May 23, 1940 of Martha (Branham) Moore of Bolton. She was a member of the Branham family of Oxford, closely associated with Wesleyan since its earliest days. She was a sister of Lynn Branham of the class of 1886. Surviving are three sons, Judge Virlyn Moore of the Fulton Superior Court, James M. Moore and Thomas W. Moore, and several grandchildren.

1876

Ella (Wilkinson) Green of Milledgeville has enjoyed excellent health this year, and spends much time entertaining her friends when she is at home. She visited her children in Georgia and Tennessee during the summer. They have frequent happy days at home with her.

1877

Emma (Goode) Dozier writes: "I have two daughters, one a house-mother for the Sigma Chi fraternity at Emory University, the other Mrs. Loren Gary of Georgetown, Ga. The first has one daughter, Mrs. C. D. Randall of Griffin, Ga. The second has 11 children, 8 boys and 3 girls. Her husband is a doctor. I wish you could see her family. My activities have slowed down since a fall early last February. My greatest interest is teaching a Sunday School class at the Methodist church. I am 83 years old, and my eyesight is very bad. I still think of and love dear Wesleyan."

1878

Class Secretary: Mrs. Washington Dessau, Sr. (Fannie Gilmer), 301 Hines Terrace, Macon, Ga.

Eloise Chappell, granddaughter of the late Florrie (Allen) Chappell of Americus, was married to Lester Terry of Columbus on September 1.

Fannie (Gilmer) Dessau confined to her room for some months makes it a place where old and new friends like to go; she is so alert and charming and restful that we agree with the soldier guest who met her and said "That is the most beautiful experience that I have had." Fannie's granddaughter, Stephens Dessau, entering Wesleyan this fall is a fourth generation girl. Fannie's son, Wash Dessau, and his wife Frances (Stevens) Dessau have placed the name "Fannie Gilmer Dessau" upon a bronze tablet for one of the dormitory rooms that will be dedicated at the approaching ceremony.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Cuyler King (Henrietta Nisbet) 1312 Wilson Ave., Columbia, Mo.

Pearl (Napier) O'Daniel was the honored guest of Alpha Delta Pi at their national convention in Hot Springs, Virginia in July. She was the oldest delegate present. The Adelphian, magazine of A. D. Pi carried her picture in September with that of her niece, Mrs. Eli Shorter of Eufaula, Ala., who accompanied her to the convention.

Friends were shocked to learn of the death recently of 21-year-old William Pickard Karsten graduate of Yale who was continuing his studies for the Baptist ministry. He was the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Karsten of Tifton, and grandson of the late Florence (Willingham) Pickard, a member of the class of 1879. His grandfather was Dr. William L. Pickard, former president of Mercer University.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Alfred Truitt (Ida Price), 987 Columbia Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

1881

Class Secretary: Mrs. L. J. Rozar (Josephine Whitehurst), Milledgeville, Ga.

1882

Class Secretary: Mrs. Mary Anderson (Mary Jones), 1509 Buena Vista Rd., Columbus, Ga.

Gussie (Jones) Winn and her daughters, Lila (Mitchell) Poissant, '06, and Elizabeth Winn, '25, have moved into their new home at 105 Ashley Place, Macon.

Mary (Jones) Anderson writes: "I moved to Columbus ten months ago, and have been in touch with only one member of my class, but it gives me great pleasure to write of her, Mamie (Willis) Battle. Mamie's son, Captain Eugene Battle, is commander of his ship, "The Quinsey", which has been stationed in Iceland for some time but is now thought to be in Panama. Mamie gathers from his censored letters that Eugene had the interesting experience of being present at the momentous meeting of our President and Winston Churchill. In this dark hour when our ships are being sunk by German submarines we all admire and applaud Mamie's courage and faith. We know and understand her deep anxiety.

"I am anticipating a visit very soon to Annie (Anderson) McKay in Macon and expect to place in the college museum my senior composition medal given by Mr. Charles Solomon who was at that time a jeweler in Macon; also my Philomathean Badge, dated May 3, 1880. My mother's diploma and my own are already there."

Annie Lee (Tison) Wright's granddaughter, Annie Lee Wilson of Brunswick, was married on October 11 to Lieut. Floyd Thomas Taylor.

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. D. Lamar (Dorothy Blount), 238 Georgia Ave., Macon, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Dorothy (Blount) Lamar in the death of her husband, Walter D. Lamar, in September after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Lamar was for many years engaged in wholesale, retail, and manufacturing drug business, and had extensive farm interests. His benefactions were numerous, and among the recipients of his gifts was Wesleyan College. One of the handsome paintings in the Grand Parlor on the Rivoli campus, Murillo's Madonna of the Chair, was given by him in honor of his wife, Macon's first Alumnae Trustee. A bronze tablet in the Grand Parlor at Wesleyan Conservatory will record the fact that this room was repurchased for Wesleyan during the recent campaign by Mr. Lamar in honor of his wife.

The Lamar family has been closely associated with Wesleyan ever since the idea for the college first took shape in the minds of Macon people. Mr. Walter Lamar's great uncle, Henry G. Lamar, was chairman of the meeting of citizens held in the Methodist Church on November 25, 1835, in the interest of locating the female college in Macon. Another relative, Peter Lamar, was a state senator when the bill for the college charter was passed on December 24, 1836, and Mr. Walter D. Lamar represented Peter Lamar in the Wesleyan Centennial pageant in 1936.

Mr. Lamar's father, Henry J. Lamar, was a trustee of the college. His sister, Fannie (Lamar) Gately, was a graduate of 1876; and two other sisters, Valeria and Wileyna, attended Wesleyan.

Mr. Lamar's hobby was photography, and he himself took motion pictures of some of the recent events in the history of Wesleyan; the pageant celebrating the breaking of ground for the new campus at Rivoli; scenes from the beautiful Centennial Pageant at commencement in 1936. He invited Wesleyan friends to his home to see these pictures on the screen.

Sallie (Jennings) Kendall lives at the historic old Kendall home in Eufaula, Ala., and is known for her charming personality. Her three children are: Mrs. L. Y. Dean, Jr., Mr. J. J. Kendall, and Mrs. T. J. Kendall.

Louise (McIntosh) Burns is quite active in church work, and is loved by everyone in Pelham, where she lives with her son, Dr. M. M. Burns.

Hattie Grace (Wharton) Moore is a gracious matron of Eufaula, Ala., where she makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Merrill. Another daughter, Mrs. I. S. Mitchell, lives in Atlanta.

Class Secretary: Mrs. D. W. Krauss (Minnie Harwell), St. Simon's Island, Ga.

Annie Burghard, who was a teacher in the Macon school system for 50 years, died September 3 after an illness of several years. She was a member of Vineville Methodist Church, where she took an active part until her health failed.

Fannie Elizabeth Cheatham is librarian in Dawson, Ga. She is a member of the Woman's Society for Christian Service, and was for years superintendent of the primary department of the Methodist Sunday School.

Hope Strong, Jr., oldest grandson of Minnie (Harwell) Krauss of St. Simon's Island and son of Dorothy (Krauss)

Strong, '19, will be graduated next year from Annapolis.

Annie Lewis (Rushin) Willingham, widow of one of Macon's most generous benefactors, died in Battle Creek, Michigan, in September after a long illness. While at Wesleyan she was awarded a medal for the best voice in college. Surviving are a son, Broadus E. Willingham, Jr., and two daughters, both of whom attended Wesleyan: Virginia (Willingham) Wood of Macon and Anne (Willingham) Rawson of New York City.

1885

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. E. Davenport (Alice Lowrey), 1114 Elm St., Americus, Ga.

Leila (Conner) Richardson's many friends in Macon regret that the transfer of her son-in-law, in command at Camp Wheeler, will take her from Macon to Camp Blanding. We quote from an editorial in the Macon Telegraph at the time of his transfer:

"Brigadier General John H. Hester's kindness and thoughtfulness for the men went hand-in-hand with a quiet efficiency which was reflected in the excellent record made by the trainees under his command. Indeed, his success at Camp Wheeler obviously was responsible for his transfer to a larger field.

"In social and business circles General Hester greatly endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. Like his charming wife, he is a native of Georgia and Macon citizens have felt that they were our own people."

Blanche (Ellis) Nyhan of Macon died of a heart attack in September, only one week after the death of her husband.

Little Alice Elizabeth Leonard was born in Americus on August 27, the daughter of Claudia (Davenport) Leonard, '31, who was president of the class her freshman year. The baby is named for her grandmother, Alice (Lowrey) Davenport, and her aunt, Elizabeth (Davenport) Plant, '17.

Alice (Lowrey) Davenport's son, Dr. L. F. Davenport, Boston, Mass. has recently been appointed to the staff of the "Peter Bent Brigham Hospital", where he first began his internship about ten years ago. In addition to his general practice he has medical classes at Harvard and Tufts Universities.

1886

Maggie Lou (Fagan) Holland keeps house in her old home in Statesboro, where her son and his family live with her. Her hobby is flowers. She has two widowed daughters and one son.

1887

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. A. Douglass (Jennie Martin), Lake Mary, Fla.

Members of Sallie Boone's Sunday School class of the Macon Presbyterian Church honored their teacher with a birthday party in September.

Jennie (Martin) Douglass does not feel old in spite of the fact that she has a great grandson in Atlanta. She is still Postmaster in Lake Mary, Fla., and loves her work.

1888

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. T. Stone (Ida Lowrey) Blakely, Ga.

Emmie (Crittenden) Wooten has six living children and thirteen grandchildren. She gives much of her time to her family and their interests.

Alice Napier says the two most delightful occasions during her long summer vacation were the tea given by Florence Bernd to five of her Wesleyan classmates, and the fourth of July celebration by six different denominations at St. George's church in Philadelphia. This is the oldest colonial Methodist church in America. Episcopal and Methodist Bishops took part in the service.

Emy (Norris) Hall is still an invalid. She finds her greatest pleasure in her one-year-old granddaughter, Emily de-Jarnette Reynolds.

1889

Class Secretary: Lella Clark, 76 Arlington Place, Macon, Ga.

Irene (Bowen) Gray of Haddock lives on the famous old Bowen Hill of her girlhood days. Her husband is a farmer. Irene has been confined to her home a year with fallen arches.

Susie (Dillion) Mercer has a grandson, born during the past summer, the son of her only son.

Dear Classmates:

I have been asked to do a very difficult thing—to take Annie (Laney) Watson's place as Secretary of our class. I am glad to do my best, but you must help me by telling me about yourselves for the next magazine.

Irene Hendrix and Hattie (Wilder) Gibson are the only members of the class who live in Macon, I believe (I get mixed up because I was in two classes, for I dropped out one year). Anna Harrold, Belle (Stewart) Wooten and Ida (Lowrey) Stone could always keep me posted as to which was which. Belle used to say I was very stupid about it! I began in the Preparatory Department and went on until I graduated, so I had friends all along the way. I roomed with Kate Neal and Fannie Girard when I was sophomore and they were seniors, and I have often laughed with Kate about the day they decided to take up the rug and dust and mop—the very day I had the worst migraine headache I ever had! I verily believe that's the reason I still have those wretched headaches.

We had a wonderful reunion of our 1888 and 1889 classes when Annie (Laney) Watson entertained us at her house with the help of her efficient daughter, Annie. She gave us a gorgeous lunch and we had lots of fun telling of our experiences in the years that were only in memory.

Won't all the rest of you write to me between now and the middle of January so that we shall have news of you all in the next issue of the magazine?

—Lella Clark

IN MEMORIAM

Annie Lou (Laney) Watson

Annie and I were very fond of each other, but Mother used to say laughingly, "Your friends pretend they are coming to see you when I am the one they really love." It was true of Annie, for as she grew in years and character as the mother of eight children and later grandmother of ten, as Sunday School teacher, missionary leader, W.C.T.U. worker, devoted Wesleyan alumna, she found Mother a most congenial and sympathetic companion although they were so many years apart in age.

I was away from Macon in the years when she was "growing in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man", but this was truly happening. She was a woman of charm, of superior intellect, devoted to her church, college, and city and to all their interests. People often said, "Mrs. Watson can do this better than anyone. Let's ask her." She always responded graciously.

She was always a strong advocate of stewardship, or tithing, stewardship of time, money, talents, and she went from town to district and state meetings speaking to groups of women about this plan, which she practiced always herself.

She won friends wherever she went. Late in life she went out to Denver to her daughter, Katherine, who had lost her husband. Although many friends did not think her equal to the trip, she felt that she was needed. Katherine's friends flocked to her. She wrote enthusiastic letters back about her meetings with the D.A.R.'s, the W.C.T.U.'s, and particularly of her experience as honoree at the Province meeting of the A.D. Pi's when she was welcomed as representative of the mother chapter.

She suffered a stroke in Denver, and was brought back to Macon on a stretcher, but she was the same cheerful and wide-awake Annie. "Come back soon so you can tell me all the news," she would say. The last months were full of suffering, but she was lovingly and tenderly cared for day and night by her namesake and devoted daughter, Annie.

God has called her to her eternal home, another friend. I am sure that Anna Harrold, Belle (Stewart) Wooten, Ella (Anderson) Clark, Lillian (Solomon) Roberts, and Stella (Hunt) King gave her cordial welcome, and we can imagine these Wesleyan friends taking delight in showing her the wonders of the "Glory Land".

This is a simple tribute to a friend who left us a little while ago, just a few months after she reached her seventieth birthday.

—Lella Clark

1890

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. P. Coleman (Ida Mangham), Massee Apt., Macon, Ga.

Richard D. Fox, only son of the late Lizzie (Lachlison) Fox, has a position with the Georgia Power Company in Atlanta. He and his wife are the very proud parents of a one-year-old son, Richard III. Lizzie Lachlison is still mentioned by "old-timers" in Macon as having had one of the most beautiful voices ever heard at Wesleyan. She remained at Wesleyan a year after her graduation for study in voice, and sang in Macon churches. She died at the time of her son's birth, and he was reared by his grandfather and an aunt in Darien, Ga.

1891

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. N. Ainsworth (Mary Nicholson), Massee Apt., Macon, Ga.

Attie (Moore) Jelks died in Jacksonville, Fla., in June after a long illness. She received the A.B. degree in 1891 and the M.B. degree in 1898. Surviving are three daughters, Charlotte, Ruth and Marie Jelks of Jacksonville; and four sons: Dr. Edward Jelks, Jacksonville; James E. Jelks, Pompano, Fla.; Howard Jelks, Ft. Lauderdale, and Oliver Jelks, Austin, Tex.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth was principal speaker at one session of the South Georgia Conference in Valdosta in November. This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of his membership in the Conference. His wife, Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, accompanied him to Valdosta.

Elnora (Pharr) Moore is a widow and makes her home in Forsyth, Ga. Her children are: Mrs. Marian Cooner, Americus; Mrs. C. L. Tucker, Forsyth; Mrs. Richard Harrison, Atlanta; Mrs. Walter Grigg, Gainesville, and Jim Moore, a ministerial student of Emory University, who was admitted to the conference this fall.

Sallie Will (Pickett) Edwards' husband is president of the Bank of Dawson.

They have three sons, Davenport, William and Tom; and two daughters, Marion and Elizabeth. Tom is now with the Royal Canadian Air Force as Senior Flight Leader.

1892

Class Secretary: Mary Bond Smith, 501 Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Emma (Greene) Brannon still calls Talbotton home, but visits her children most of the time.

Gertrude (Roberts) Anderson's son, Charles, who has been teaching at Duke University, is now associate professor at Johns Hopkins University. He had begun work on an edition of Sidney Lanier's writings, and President Boswell of Johns Hopkins has planned the publication of the edition, which will be in ten volumes, and will include all of Lanier's poems, prose works, and letters. Professor Anderson has a year's leave of absence for the completion of the edition. He will personally edit the poems, and has a staff of assistants to help him with the prose. Dr. Boswell did not know until negotiations with Professor Anderson were completed that he was a relative of the Southern poet.

Mary Bond Smith, as irrepressible and humorous as ever, pokes fun at herself in this verse which came to the Alumnae Office recently. She says she has had a new permanent to help her morale.

ANTIQUES RESTORED

My hair is scraggy—

Out of curl—

My teeth have lost

Their former pearl.

From stem to stern

I need repairs

As do the antique

Beds and chairs.

It's just the same

Repeated story—

Age sixty-eight,

Departed glory—

But still undaunted—

Head unbowed—

I'll find a way

To cheat the shroud.

I'll buy new teeth

I'll curl my hair,

And put soft cushions

In my chair—

Ear phones for ears

And specs for eyes

Keep age and youth

As friendly guys—

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

Keep seams of stockings
Straight and tight
And keep my slips up
Out of sight—

Live in my world
And find it fun
Not make demands
On any one—

Nor add to burden of youth's years
My load of grouches
Sighs and tears—

Resolved that "Anno Domini
And I
Keep on good terms
Until I die."

1893

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. O. Jones (Loula Evans), Newnan, Ga.

Loula (Evans) Jones writes: "Every winter when I visit my daughter in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., I see these Wesleyan girls: Lois (Baker) Burghard, '25; Beulah (Smith) Jelks, '20; and 'Sing' (Thorpe) Peavy, '17. Sing has some of the Wesleyan plates which she treasures very much.

"Bessie (Fox) Beggs is the very proud grandmother of Philip M. McLaughlin, Jr. of Macon, son of her younger daughter, Catherine. Bessie had the misfortune to break her leg this summer, but was getting along nicely when I last heard from her."

Mary Mathews is active in church work and in the Garden Circle of the Woman's Club in Talbotton, Ga.

1894

Class Secretary: Mrs. Lucy K. Johnson (Lucy Keen), 59 Boulevard, Gainesville, Ga.

Lucy (Keen) Johnson has just returned to Gainesville after a trip to New York to see her little granddaughter, Dean Gilchrist, who is now nearly seven years old. Lucy says little Dean is very like her mother, Marion Dean (Johnson) Gilchrist, A.B. '30, who died of pneumonia when the baby was about a month old. On the way home, Lucy visited Florrie Jean (Richards) Lightfoot in Raleigh, N. C., where they were entertained at the Governor's mansion.

Sadie (Pitts) Gray, who makes her home at the Clifton Hotel in Carrollton, Ga., has been an invalid for several years.

1895

Class Secretary: Mrs. Harry Ainsworth (Marion Hayes), Thomasville, Ga.

Martha Grace (Linch) Row lives in Senoia, where she takes an active interest in civic affairs, raises flowers and collects antiques as her hobbies. She has one son, William, who married Edith Atkinson of Senoia. Martha Grace is past president of the U.D.C.

Mary (Pickett) Pickett and Eloise Pickett, '98, spend their summers in Mont Eagle, Tenn., in the summer home which Mary has recently bought there.

1896

Class Secretary: Lois Rogers, 1297 Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga.

Willie (Barge) Terry's only son, John Frank Terry and his family live with her in her home about six miles from Shellman. She has one granddaughter who is in high school.

Lois Rogers, who retired this Commencement after 27 years of teaching at Wesleyan finds life full and satisfying. She has spent the summer at her home, "Shadyside" in Clayton, Ga., and this winter will have an apartment in Atlanta at 1297 Emory Road. Two of her sisters, Dorothy (Rogers) Tilly, and Miriam Rogers, both Wesleyan alumnae, live in Atlanta.

1897

Class Secretary: Mrs. S. T. Coleman (Edith Stetson), 317 College St., Macon, Ga.

Irene (Hand) Corrigan, now living in New York City, took an extended trip through the west this summer. In Chicago she was joined by her cousin, Ella Clare McKellar, A. B. '07. They toured the Glacier National Park and Waterton Lakes, Canada, and visited Coulee Dam from Spokane, Washington, going 54 miles up the new and greater Columbia River by boat. While in Seattle they went to the glacier line of Mount Rainer. En route they discovered on the same bus, Ophie (Smith) Guerry, A.B. '05, of Montezuma, with her daughter. Irene spent several days with Col. and Mrs. Rex MacKellar at Vancouver Barracks, Washington, where she left Ella Clare and continued through points in California, Grand Canyon, and St. Louis, to Columbus, Ohio. There she visited her son, Judson Corrigan, and his wife before returning to New York.

Edith (Stetson) Coleman has returned from her summer at St. Simon's Island to her busy life in Macon. In the midst of planning the program for the all day meeting of the Mulberry Missionary Meeting and of attending a Colonial Dames State Board meeting, she writes: "I have received the announcement of the marriage of Era Monk's son, the Rev. Monk Bryan to Corneille Dower Wise. Era was the daughter of one of the most brilliant pastors Mulberry ever had, Dr. Alonzo Monk. She graduated in my class during his pastorate, and was one of the sweetest and most beloved members. Since then, as a Methodist minister's wife, she has arrived at all the heights in the gift of the Texas Methodist women's organizations, and from many I have heard how well she does everything. Now Era's son has married in the west Corneille Downer, a descendant of another old Georgia family. For this Corneille Downer (whose first husband, Mr. Wise, died not long after her marriage to him) is a daughter of Corneille Willingham Downer, the daughter of the distinguished Baptist minister of Richmond, Virginia, Robert Willingham, son of Mr. Ben Willingham of Macon, and an uncle of my class-mate Corinne (Lawton) Jordan and of the husband of May (Nottingham) Lawton and of Virginia (Willingham) and of Bertha (Willingham) Siebels Wood, and of a generation of Macon Willinghams. Corneille is a family name for Willingham daughters running back through several generations."

Sadie (Stewart) Hunt of Gray spent several weeks in Charlotte, N. C., recently taking care of her little granddaughter while her son, Dr. Jasper S. Hunt, and his wife were in Boston attending the American Academy of Pediatrics.

1898

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. G. Stephens (Lucy Evans), Washington, Ga.

Lillian (Crittenden) Sears of Shellman is the proud mother of four Wesleyan alumnae: Ruth (Sears) Patterson, '23; Grace (Sears) Parrott, '27; Lillian Sears, '29; and Frank Sears, '33. Her granddaughter, Echo Patterson, hopes to become a member of the Wesleyan class of 1947. Her grandson, Jim Parrott, is now two years old.

A recent letter from the Alumnae Office to Lucy (Evans) Stephens asking for news of her family, brought this reply from her husband, who is one of the nicest and most loyal of "alumnae husbands":

"I am answering your questions, since Mrs. Stephens is in Atlanta this week.

"Our daughter, Emma, is Director of the 'Y' work at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. I judge you know all about Miami University. It is one of the Ohio state universities and was founded about 1810. I think Ohio has three universities. There are some 3,000 students there on a beautiful old campus and housed in beautiful old buildings. This University was founded by McGuffey of Reader fame and Dr. Junkin, who was the father of Stonewall Jackson's first wife. (You see we just cannot get away from the Confederacy, even when we go to Ohio.) Emma likes the place and from her letters we gather she is luxuriously fixed. The only drawback to the place is she is so far away from home. We miss dreadfully her visits, which she could make so often when she was in Athens. Her address is: Care Miami University, Box 124, Benton Hall, Oxford, Ohio.

"Allie, her husband and two children, came down for the week-end with us last week and Mrs. Stephens went home with them Sunday. Robert and his family came too and Ida from Augusta, so we had a family re-union, only marred by Emma's absence.

"Ida, your other Wesleyan girl, is now working in Augusta, Ga. She qualified as typist with shorthand and is in the Air Base at Daniel Field. She is delighted with her work and very enthusiastic. She is near enough to come home each week-end, getting off from work at 12 noon and getting home each Saturday about two o'clock. Her address is 961 Meigs Street, The Hill, Augusta, Ga.

"Robert graduated 'Cum Laude' in Law at the University Law School this last August. He stood the state bar examination about two months before he graduated, passed it and was admitted to the bar of Georgia before he got his diploma. He was in the Officers Reserve Corps and was called into the army in September and is now first lieutenant. Robert G. Stephens, Jr., Temporary Post-Intelligence Officer at Camp Croft, Spartanburg, South Carolina. He has moved his family there and will be there until ordered somewhere else. He is still on the faculty of the University of Georgia, but has a leave for army service.

"We did have a marvelous trip this summer, but I will not bore you with that. Suffice it to say, if you want to have a good time, go on a trip piloted by two independent girls who know what they want to see, know where they are going, and know what they are seeing. We went through the Valley of Virginia, through Maryland and West Virginia and as high as Gettysburg, Pa., ending up at Richmond and Williamsburg, Yorktown and Jamestown. Were gone ten days and covered 1800 miles.

"We really are coming to Macon some time. We feel lost not having a girl at Wesleyan and must visit there at intervals to keep up with things."

Sidney (Jones) Renfro's daughter, Ida, is an alumna of Wesleyan Conservatory. She is now Mrs. Jack Trask of St. Louis, Mo.

Margaret (Persons) McGehee has gone to Raleigh, N. C., to spend the winter with her daughter, Virginia (McGehee) Allen, A.B. '25.

Clara (Rumph) Grice's son, Benning, was married to Mary Calhoun of Macon in October.

Myrtice (Schuessler) Jenkins lives in LaFayette, Ala. She is a widow and has seven sons and one daughter.

1899

Class Secretary: Lucy Gleaton, Conyers, Ga.

Parna B. Hill is spending the winter in Savannah with her sister, Mary (Hill) Brown of the class of 1911.

1900

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. E. Hays (Louise Frederick), Rhodes Memorial Hall, Atlanta, Ga.

Kate (Finney) Mumford makes her home in New Jersey with her daughter, Margaret (Fowler) Patton, A.B. '27, whose husband, through Western Electric, is doing research for national defense. Kate's son, Eugene Fowler, is in the research department of the United Fruit Company on their banana plantations in Guatamala, Central America.

Mary (Finney) Stewart has been living in Haddock a number of years since the death of her husband. She has three daughters, Mary, a librarian at Jones County High School; Mildred Beaschler, whose husband is director of Music at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C.; and Palacia Seaman whose husband is a pilot for Eastern Air Lines based at Flushing, L. I.

Louise (Frederick) Hays, State Historian, writes from Atlanta: "I attend the Wesleyan Group Meeting here and the members are alive and interested and interesting."

Lucia (Johnson) Edmondson is the author of a book, "Scrambled Impressions at Mayo Clinic", recently published by the Falcon Press of Chicago. It gives the story of her fellow-patients at the clinic while she was there for an eye ailment. Lucia refers in the book to her sister, Maude (Johnson) Schuster, of the class of 1907, and to her sister, the late Camille (Johnson) Davis of the class of 1895.

Corra (Weston) Wilcox was appointed assistant to the secretary of the Brunswick, Ga. Y.W.C.A. last November.

Mary Lucy (White) DeJarnette's husband is cashier of the Bulloch County Bank in Statesboro. She has served as president of the W.S.C.S. for the past two years. They have two daughters and one son, all married.

1901

Class Secretary: Mrs. C. V. Clark (Claudia Clark), Louisville, Ga.

Maude (Brannen) Edge is one of the dynamic personalities of Statesboro, according to those who know her in the civic and cultural life of the city. She has made her home in Georgia since the death several years ago of her husband, a Presbyterian minister in New Jersey. She is a vital force for the betterment of the underprivileged, her efforts being used largely in the "Good Will Center" of Statesboro.

Margaret (Hall) Hazard's mother recently wrote to Edith (Stetson) Coleman for a copy of the new edition of the Macon Cook Book for Margaret's anniversary present, the 29th anniversary of her wedding. Margaret was secretary of the original Cook Book Committee, and Mrs. Hall was most interested in all the work that she and Edith Coleman did in editing that interesting book.

Flora Willie (Hixon) Bryan has a lovely home in Vienna, and is interested in church work. She has no children of her own, but has made a very good job of helping to rear her step-children, Louise and Ben, Jr.

1902

Class Secretary: Mrs. F. M. Mullino (Mary Addie Murph), Montezuma, Ga.

Mary Addie (Murph) Mullino writes: "My son, John Howard Mullino, was married on October 20 to Ola Elizabeth Exley at Wesley Monumental Church in Savannah, Rev. A. W. Rees performing the beautiful double ring ceremony. You can imagine how delighted I was to have him marry a Wesleyan graduate.

"Matibel (Pope) Mitchell and I, representing the class of 1902, met at a recent reunion of Wesleyan girls and Mercer boys at a week-end house party at Indian Springs. The other Wesleyan girls with their husbands were Lillian (Solomon) Roberts, Alice (Williams) Benton, Estelle (Stevens) Mason, Louise (Montfort) Kilpatrick, Anne E. (Williams) Pearce, Martha (Plant) Ross, and Camille (Lamar) Roberts. This same group had a house party in the same place in 1905. All brought old pictures and much time was spent in reviewing them and talking over old times."

1903

Class Secretary: Lucy Lester, 640 W. Call St., Tallahassee, Fla.

Sympathy is extended to Margaret (Bryan) Price in the death of her husband in the spring. Margaret lives in Miami where she has always made her home. She has two married daughters.

Ella (Christie) Melton is historian of the Mary Brantley Chapter, U.D.C., in Dawson. She wrote the entire history of this organization from the time of its organization in 1902 to the present. As historian of the chapter, she won two silver loving cups for her research. As historian of the Stone Castle Chapter, D.A.R., she has also won loving cups. She is a former president of the Wesleyan Club of Dawson.

Kate Cooper, returned missionary after 32 years in Korea, is at home in Douglasville, Ga., now, speaks often to missionary society groups and churches of her work in the Orient.

Maybelle (Kendrick) Smith is a member of the Dorothy Walton Chapter of D.A.R. in Dawson, where her husband is in the insurance business.

Lucy Lester, professor of French at F.S.C.W., spent the summer in Mexico attending lectures at the University of Mexico. With her was her friend Margie Burks, A.B. '05, also a professor at F.S.C.W.

Ruby (Pickett) Woolsley is a widow living in New Haven, Conn. She has five very attractive daughters, three of whom are married.

1904

Class Secretary: Louise Lin, Wesleyan Conservatory, Macon, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Clare (Boifeuillet) Jones in the death of her husband, secretary-treasurer of the Country Bankers' Association of Georgia, in Atlanta in October.

Hennie Mae (Crittenden) Bell continues to live in her girlhood home. She has only one son who married Halcyon Alsop of the class of 1936.

Scottie (Crowder) Benton is Parliamentarian of the Donalsonville Woman's Club, and takes an active part in church work. She has one son, Mills, and four daughters: Mrs. T. W. White, Jr., Mrs. E. H. Howard, Jo and Nan Benton.

Maggie (Finney) Middlebrooks has two sons, James, a merchant of Haddock, Ga., and Joseph, a salesman of Savannah. Her daughter, Katherine (Middlebrooks) Upchurch of the class of '31 lives in Atlanta where her husband is a kidney and bladder specialist. Maggie's husband is a farmer and peach grower in Haddock, Ga.

Bessie (Matthews) O'Neal's daughter, Elizabeth, was married on June 30th to Wallace Warren Plowden, who is associated with the First National Bank of Bainbridge, Ga.

Ruth (Reid) Monaghan's husband is a construction engineer in Pelham. They have one of the loveliest homes in town. Ruth is active in club work, and is particularly interested in Tallulah Falls.

Roberta Smith, Carnegie librarian in Dublin, was honored by being asked to preside at the public library section of the Georgia Library Association in Augusta in October.

Carrie (Wooten) Cooper's husband is president of the Pelham Banking Co.

Their only son, Warren, is an Ensign in the U. S. Navy; their daughter is married to Dr. Addison Simpson and lives in Washington, Ga.

1905

Class Secretary: Margie Burks, 640 W. Call St., Tallahassee, Fla.

Aline (Bradley) Boykin and her husband have a new home at Lake Junaluska, N. C., where they spend several months each year.

Gussie (Finney) Becking's daughter, Mary Stewart, a senior at Wesleyan College, was highly honored recently by being chosen by her fellow students for a place in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". Mary Stewart is one of the most popular girls at Wesleyan. She is president of the senior class. She is very talented in music, and has a part in everything musical which takes place at the college.

Bessie (Jones) Lowe lives in LaFayette, Ala. She has four children, Louise, Madell, Mrs. Gardner Stewart, and Walter Lowe, Jr., who married a Wesleyan girl.

Louise (Knox) Cato lives in Eufaula, Ala., now. She is the daughter of Mrs. A. J. Knox, who was matron at Wesleyan in 1904-05, and was a music pupil of Miss Eva Massey.

Lillian (Solomon) Roberts' daughter, Lillian, was married on October 18 to Frank Fleming Eleazer of Richmond, Va., a brother of Frances Eleazer of the class of '34.

1906

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. J. Stewart (Octavia Burden), Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Fannie Fenn is called "Lady" by her friends. She lives on her father's farm and cares for her parents who are in their eighties.

Sympathy is extended to Louise (Fenn) Woodward and her family in the death of her oldest son, Capt. Lamar T. Woodward, who was killed in a motor accident in Louisiana during army maneuvers. Capt. Woodward's sisters are Elizabeth (Woodward) Bradley, A.B. '31, and Louise Frances Woodward, a junior at Wesleyan College. He leaves a wife and a small son.

In "Weddings" in this issue is announcement of the marriage of Eliza (Hill) Martin's daughter, Sara, to Walter Traynham Winn of Atlanta. Eliza's brother, Pope Hill, is at Warm Springs, Ga., suffering from a recent attack of polio.

Marie (Loehr) Arnold of 2403 Bagby St., Houston, Texas, writes: "Since my husband's death last year I have installed myself in a little studio, full of souvenirs of my world travels, and resumed my language classes, French, Italian, and Spanish. I have also been doing quite a bit of writing. There is a copy of my book of poems, 'Life and Live' in the Wesleyan library inscribed in memory of my grandmother, Mary (Houston) Allen, a Wesleyan graduate of 1858.

"My mother, Malvina Allen Loehr, who visited me at Wesleyan in 1902, passed away in Peking, China, last summer, August 20, 1940. Since then my brother George, who is on the faculty of Yenching University in Peking, has sent me a letter which I wrote to her in 1902, describing the wedding of my aunt, Mary (Allen) Turner, at the home of our literature teacher, Mrs. Cobb.

"I often wish I could go back to Wesleyan! When this war is over I hope to return to China, the land of my birth. In the meantime, although I am all alone over here, I am very happy indeed to be in America."

Floy (McClain) Thigpen and her husband are both ardent church workers in Pelham, where Mr. Thigpen is associated with the Hand Trading Company. They have a son in the insurance business in Boston.

Funeral services for Tommie (White) Banks were held from her home in Grantville on October 27. She had been ill for many years. Surviving are her husband and two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Brasch of Lakeland, and Alice Banks of Grantville. Tommie was a devoted member of the Grantville Methodist Church, a leading member of her missionary society. While at Wesleyan she was a member of the Philomathean Society.

1907

Class Secretary: Mrs. Nelson Mallary (Willie Erminger), 117 Callaway St., Macon, Ga.

Willie (Erminger) Mallary writes: "We had a delightful visit from Sara Branham for a few days in October. The picture she brought of her home makes me eager to see it. She has two lots with lovely trees that make a beautiful setting for the house, which is white brick and clapboard. She has taken on gardening in a big way with splendid results as her figure looks like 'Sweet Sixteen'. She went back to Washington with many plants for her 'Friendship Garden'.

"Nannaline (King) Byrd has a lovely new home, too, which she built on West Andrews Drive after she sold her former home on Clifton Road. Recently I met her second daughter-in-law, Jim's wife, and can understand why she is so popular with the family.

"Sara tells me that Elizabeth (Mosely) Cole's son recently married and Elizabeth herself is in the business world.

"Vernon Horn has done some splendid work in art, and recently had a picture exhibited in the Art Institute in Chicago. Hope we will see Vernon now that her mother and sister, Annabel, are at Wesleyan.

"Odille (King) Dasher is a grandmother again, her youngest child, Campbell, is the father of a fine daughter born October 3 and named Eolyne Greene for her mother. Odille has a new daughter-in-law, Anne Brooks of Athens, wife of Ben, Jr."

Alma (Haddock) McCurdy's friends and classmates regret to hear of the death of her husband, Dr. Ed McCurdy, a little over a year ago. Alma spends much time in church activities and is a member of the Shellman Garden Club.

Nellie (Morel) Mills is active in the work of the Wesleyan Service Guild in the Methodist church in Sylvania.

Lottie (Thompson) Williams lives in Haddock, where her husband and their son, Walter, Jr., have farming and lumber interests. Lottie's daughter, Charlotte, married Dr. Dan Jardine of Douglas, Ga., and Walter, Jr., recently married Eugenia Shy of Milledgeville.

Grace (Troutman) Wilson's son, Lt. Marcellus Troutman Wilson of Camp Roberts, Calif. and Athens, Ga., was married in October to Josephine Dunlap of Macon.

Caro (Twitty) Martin is the mother of one Wesleyan alumna, Carolyn (Martin) Craft of 1936, and of two prospective alumnae, Elizabeth, a senior at Wesleyan and president of the College Government Association, and Martha, a freshman. She also has one son, Lieut. Charles Truitt Martin, Coast Artillery Corps Reserve, on active duty at Key West, Fla. Caro has just returned from a delightful visit to Carolyn and Jim in Maryland.

Frances (Luke) Moyer lives in Thomas-ton, and has a beauty shop in her home.

Helen (McNutt) Brice writes: "During the years when I meet talented and unusually fine people I find them connected with Wesleyan. Once at a staff meeting when I was working on the University of Florida newspaper, the editor asked me where I went to college. When I told him Wesleyan, he said, 'My mother was a Wesleyan girl, valedictorian of her class, Myra (Stubbs) Talbert.' Another of the staff spoke up and said he had an aunt and two cousins who went there, and still another that his fiancée was now at Wesleyan. Last Christmas when one of our sons was in the hospital in Augusta, the brilliant young doctor who was attending him sent his wife out to see me because she was a Wesleyan alumna. She was Elaine (Goodson) Osteen."

Elizabeth (Manget) Minter has two attractive little sons: Fred, 5, and David, 2. They have been visiting Linda (McKinney) Anderson in Macon recently.

Sally (Jones) Pafford's husband is teaching English at Emory Junior College in Valdosta. Their little daughter, Connie, was three in July, and feels quite a young lady.

Mary (Murphey) Dillon of Valdosta has a son, John Robert Dillon, Jr., born in October.

Martha (Oattis) Carroll writes from her home in Riva, Maryland, "Jim and I feel that we are dyed-in-the-wool citizens of the Free State of Maryland by now since we have lived here for four years. We have had much fun with a summer cottage on the Chesapeake Bay. We have converted the cottage into a year around residence, doing all the work ourselves. I worked for a while as case worker in the Children's Department of the Catholic Charities of Washington, D. C., and later with the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. I am now a member of the County Red Cross Motor Corps and am having a wonderful time learning to be a mechanic as well as a driver.

We see Paula (Belcher) Murray and her husband and daughter occasionally, and when Queenie Baker was in Washington she came out for week-ends."

Sara Rossee, Conservatory, is teacher of piano in the Dalton Public Schools this year.

Evelyn Sewell has been appointed executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Sympathy is extended to Katherine (Wink) Fincher in the death of her father in the early summer. Katherine's husband is a druggist in Calhoun, Ga.

Pinkie (Evans) Knox writes: "From the way in which I fail to keep up with 'what's news' in our class, it's hard to believe that I was once an earnest student of journalism, determined to be another Walter Winchell. But alas, my 'nose for news' has long since become just a nose.

"Despite the fact that we now live in the country (RFD No. 4), I still keep in touch with the world through the newspapers and ever so frequently read of some member of our class getting 'married up' as L'il Abner would say. I'm convinced that Dr. Rosser was right when he said, 'Young ladies, the best way to get a husband is to knock him out of a tree with a college diploma.' And Wesleyan girls wield a wicked diploma.

"Sara Harrell and Alex Johnson of Lake Wales, Fla., were married in June and from all reports it must have been a lovely wedding with Parky and Harriet there to see it all well done.

"Quite a few members of our class are 'army wives'. Parky (Culpepper) Lee and her husband are stationed at Fort Bragg, but are living at Southern Pines, N.C., which is very near the reservation.

"Kat (Alfriend) McNair and her husband are luckily stationed at Camp Wheeler near Macon. I read with interest of Rose Peagler's marriage during the summer to a lieutenant. I'm sure there are others among our ranks who are sharing their husbands with Uncle Sam for our national defense.

"Don't quote me, but I think—

... Harriet Wright is having a wonderful time teaching in Moultrie and running hither and yon during the summers and over week-ends.

... Edith Bates was a visitor in Georgia this summer; Newnan to be specific.

... Gerry Dorsey is still helping her father in Cordele—when she isn't gadding about over the country.

... Mildred (Drake) Herndon is now living in Newnan. (I'm not at all sure I remember this correctly, but I think Parky told me.)

... Nina (Tabor) Dorsey has a young son. (I'd hate to be wrong about that!)

... Beth Studstill has a job in Atlanta after completing a business course at Draughon's.

... Bishop and Mrs. Moore's daughter, Evelyn, our classmate, visited in Georgia this summer. Evelyn and Parky renewed an old acquaintance and I know they must have reminisced about the time they got into the Salvation Army bread line—by mistake.

... Caroline Mallary has a dance studio in Macon, I hear. She is still teaching physical education at Wesleyan Conservatory, too.

"Wish I knew more 'doubtful' news, but here's one bit of news I'm positive about. From now on when you celebrate the fourth of July you won't be celebrating just our country's birthday but as of July 4, 1941, the birthday of Gay Austin Knox, who chose that celebrated date to arrive at our house. And I'll bet you'll be surprised—even astounded, as we were—to learn that she's not a little 'Pinkie' at all!"

1938

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. S. Carroll (Margaret Turner), 212 Providence Rd., Apt. 3, Charlotte, N. C.

Frances Collins, Conservatory, is elementary school music teacher in Macon this year.

He is a graduate of West Point, and for the past three years has been on a military mission in the Philippines where he was awarded the distinguished service star of the Philippine government.

Margaret (Turner) Carroll writes: "Betsy White is now Mrs. Frank Van Dyck, the wedding having taken place in Atlanta October 3. Betsy has joined the vast army of Methodist preachers' wives, and seems very happy.

"Eunice Ann Munck is still head of the English department of the Winter Haven High School, and doing a splendid job of it.

"Ruth Neil Menges and Dorothy Fletcher are still school marms in West Palm Beach. Ruth Neil's mother is very ill and has been for many weeks.

"Martha Bird Garrison writes: 'This year I am trying an entirely new job, teaching the second and third grades in a mill school in Habersham, Ga. It is just wonderful! The children are darlings, and we have everything we need at our school for the mill really does support us.

"My wedding was a surprise to everyone—including the bride! I got my ring on the way to Canada where I visited an aunt near Vancouver for a month. No one at home knew about the ring, and I only knew that the wedding would be sometime after I got back from Canada, and in Winston-Salem. When I pulled in Friday at 11:00 P. M. I had no idea that it would be Saturday (August 30) at 1:00 P. M. Roland broke the news and his sister handed me an ammonia dope! It was all like a fairy tale after that—going to the doctor's office at 11:30 P. M. for the blood test which North Carolina requires, trying on clothes at midnight (a complete trousseau having been sent out by one of the department stores), hearing about decorations and music, and not sleeping two winks! I guess Emily Post would throw up her hands in horror at a wedding arranged by the groom's family, but it surely was exciting. Really it's a good idea. You know how the poor groom is usually the forgotten man in the bustle of things. We had a hilarious time over it. And you can see what wonderful in-laws I picked.

"Now we're living in Charlotte, where Roland is stationed at the Army Air Base in charge of the photographic department. Our apartment is just large enough to sneeze in without tearing down a wall. I'm having an elegant time and doing all the dull things brides are supposed to do. Present count reveals four burns and three grated places on my hands. I'm frying my first chicken tonight."

Alberte Wolf studied during the summer at the University of Havana, Cuba, and is teaching this year at Colegio Buena Vista in Havana.

1939

Class Secretary: Irene Moyer, 1338 Everhart Ave., Columbus, Ga.

Class Secretary: Lee Rees, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

LaVerne (Baird) Murrah, Conservatory, has a daughter, Margaret Christine, born July 20, and a prospective member of the class of 1962.

Beth Belser writes:

"You'll be surprised to know I'm out of Georgia. I went to summer school at New York University this year, and now, I'm Executive Secretary of Camp Fire Girls here in Trenton. Of course everything is a bit strange, but I'm learning my way around very well. It will take time for me to learn all the ins and outs of the job, though. I believe I'm going to like it, for the work is extremely interesting and there is no end of variety.

"Also, are there any Wesleyannes up here? I know Leola Burnett and Eleanor McCary are both in New York, so I'll see a great deal of them when I can manage the railroad fare!"

Helen Brennan is teaching this year at Mount de Sales Academy in Macon.

Dale Crawford, who has had an exciting life recently as air hostess on one of the Western airways, was married on August 27 to J. S. McCelvey, Jr., who is now with the medical division of the army at Ft. Brown, Texas.

1941

Class Secretary: Jeannette Harris, West Point, Ga.

Lelia Aiken: "This summer was a marvelous one for me. I had two delightful trips to Asheville, N. C., and while there saw Eloise Ainsworth and Weezie Turner. My trip to the Vanderbilt Mansion which I hadn't seen for eight years, was something never to be forgotten. I went to New York, stopping to visit and sight-see in Lynchburg, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Bethlehem, Gettysburg, New Holland and Winston-Salem. Of course my most exciting trip was the one to Columbus for Helen Lovein's wedding! Helen White and I had the time of our lives helping Helen to become Mrs. Harry Jackson. We were sorry Sarah Webb couldn't be there. She and Eleanor Shelton had gone to Chicago. At present I am at home, and it seems wonderful after being away four years, though I look back on them as grand years at Wesleyan!"

Eloise Ainsworth: "I had to have an emergency operation for appendicitis in Macon the day after I graduated, so when I finally got home I spent most of the summer recuperating. Several of my Wesleyan friends visited me here, though. This fall I am having a wonderful time taking trips and generally enjoying myself. I've been at home very little, but when I am here I have a troop of Girl Scouts. I look forward to seeing you all Thanksgiving."

Martha Balkcom is studying at G.A.B. School of Commerce in Macon, having begun her studies during the summer.

Helen Bloodworth is doing graduate work at Emory, having received a scholarship for her outstanding record in mathematics. It was good to see her back in her old place at Wesleyan during the first week of school, helping with the registration of students.

Margaret Brantley is teaching this year in Jesup, Ga.

Frieda Brown is to be married on November 22nd.—See "Weddings".

Ruth Brown is at home this year, 2291 East Lake Rd., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Emily Campbell: "I had a nice summer. Ginny Hatcher and I had a lovely week in Clearwater Beach, Fla. Now I've become, after six weeks, a full-fledged English teacher. I teach all the high school English in Doerun and really do enjoy my work. I've always thought I'd like to teach and now am sure of it. I look forward to seeing all of you Thanksgiving."

Sarah Candler is teaching at her home in Blairsville.

Anna Lou Carrington is Local Youth Personnel Representative for the National Youth Administration in seven Georgia counties, with her office in Greensboro, Ga.

Louise Chapman, Conservatory, is teaching piano and public school music in Eatonton, Ga.

Lucy Cline: "I am spending this year at Emory University getting a degree in library science. It is quite hard, but lots of fun. My address is 1296 Emory Rd., Atlanta.

Margaret Cobb: "I am attending the Eastern Washington College of Education at Cheney, Washington. I am specializing in first grade work here and plan to teach in Washington next year. My address is 507 S. Grant St., Spokane, Wash.

Betsy Cook: "I am teaching typing and English in Chipley, Ga. I have English in the grades from sixth to ninth, and typing in the eleventh. I have a very full schedule, but the work is interesting."

Mary Haines Davidson is enjoying her work at the Boys' Training School in Milledgeville. She accepted the position in the spring, after completing her work for the A.B. degree at Wesleyan in February.

Eugenia Davis is doing graduate work at the University of North Carolina this fall.

Ina Dudley is taking a business course at her home in Columbus.

Ernestine Gibson, B.M., was married just before church services on Sunday, October 12, to John M. Hinton, the Rev. Albert Grady Harris, Presbyterian minister, performing the ceremony. The couple are living with the bridegroom's parents, 465 Orange St., Macon.

Marguerite Glenn is teaching at Andrew College in Cuthbert, Ga.

Jeannette Harris visited at Wesleyan since the opening of college, and promised to write the class captains of '41 about writing to the members of the class for news for the magazine. She got right at the job, for almost immediately letters began to come in beginning, "Jeannette Harris says for me to send you my address and news, etc." If anyone failed to communicate with the Alumnae Office it is not Jeannette's fault! She is at home this year, in West Point.

Virginia Hatcher: "During the summer I was dietitian at Camp Gazelle Den, a Girl Scout camp near Rome. Clare (Gro-venstein) Collins was director of the camp. After camp, I spent a week at Clearwater, Fla., with Emily Campbell and her sisters. Since September 1, I've been teaching science and chemistry in the Douglas County High School in Douglasville. It is a large school with about 500 students. Douglasville is only 25 miles from Atlanta, which makes it nice. I'm looking forward to Homecoming at Wesleyan on Thanksgiving!"

Lucy Hodges was married in January to LeRoy Bailey Thompson, Jr., and they are making their home in the Biltmore Apartments, Macon, Ga.

Hazel (Holmes) Burns is keeping house in Macon, at 252 Overlook Avenue.

Kathryn Hopper was honor guest at a tea given by the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Washington, D. C., shortly after her graduation. Then she studied for five weeks at Wesleyan Conservatory under Miss Simonson, and now is back at the Conservatory on a fellowship in speech.

Paschal Jarratt is working in the office of the Georgia Power Company in Macon. During the early part of the summer she was assistant in the Registrar's Office in Macon.

Margaret Johnson: "I am to be Girl Reserve Secretary for the Chattanooga, Tenn., Y.W.C.A. I spent the summer as manager of the Round Table Dining Room at Blue Ridge, N. C., where I went to the U.M.C.A. Graduate School."

Frances Jones: "I spent July and August in New Hampshire where I was swimming counselor at Camp Interlaken for girls. This winter I am teaching English and civics in the high school in Greenwood, S. C. I am rooming with Louise Wadsworth, and am having a wonderful time. I am looking forward to seeing everyone at Thanksgiving."

Margaret Lewis, Conservatory, is teaching public school music and piano in Commerce, Ga.

Betty Loftis is teaching second grade in Douglasville, Ga.

Helen Lovein was married on October 5 to Lt. Harry C. Jackson of the U. S. Army Air Corps, now stationed in New Orleans, where they have an apartment.

Dorothy McLean: "On account of a serious illness in the family, I have planned to stay at home this year."

Annie Lillian Mann is teaching French and Latin in the high school in Cochran, Ga.

Mary Bivins Meyer was married during the summer to Lt. T. L. Wood, and her address is now: 83 Reconnaissance Battalion, 3rd Armored Division, Camp Polk, La.

Catherine Pate is teaching seventh grade in Griffin, Ga., and is delighted with her work.

Sarah Hoy Phillips is at home this year, in Albany, Ga.

Judy Pomeroy is teaching in Blue Ridge, Ga.

Ida Long Rogers: "This summer I was swimming instructor at Camp Matoaka, girl scout camp. After camp I toured Virginia with my family, spending most of the time on Skyline Drive. My plans for the winter are rather vague. I am planning to travel, and I know that Thanksgiving time will find me in Macon, Georgia!"

Christine Rountree spent the summer as a counsellor at Laurel Falls Camp, Clayton, Ga. She is now teaching in the Peabody School at G.S.C.W., Milledgeville, Ga.

Isabel Rutherford: "I have had trouble with my throat recently and last week had my tonsils removed. At present I am staying at home, but plan to spend part of the winter in Florida."

Louise Scott is working in Macon with the Social Security Board, offices in the Barnes Building.

Eleanor Shelton: "This summer for five weeks I was a member of the Southeastern Workshop in Community Development at Furman University, Greenville, S. C., a group of 50 people chosen from the ten southern states. After that I was for a month canoeing and music counselor at Camp Adventure, Lake Junaluska, N. C. I am now in Evanston, Ill., where I am studying at Garrett Biblical Institute and Northwestern University. I plan to take a Master's degree in religious education and psychology, looking toward doing counseling work with young people in a church."

Mary Stallings: "I played all summer, and I expect to work all winter. The most exciting thing I did this summer was to go to St. Simon's on the LaGrange Cotillion Club house party. The remainder of the summer was spent in a lazy sort of way. This fall I have already started working in the Personnel Department of the Callaway Mills in LaGrange."

Sue Standifer is at home, 2269 Main St., Humboldt, Tenn.

Jan Stanton: "I spent the summer as swimming instructor at a girls' camp in North Carolina. At present I am secretary to Judge Augustus M. Roan, and I can be reached at one of these two addresses: 991 Oakdale Rd., N. E., or 491 Page Ave., N. E., Atlanta."

The class of 1941 extends its sympathy to Dorothy Steiger, whose mother died the last of September. Dorothy is at home this winter with her father and brother, at 520 Vernon Ave., Williamsport, Penn.

Sarah Louise Turner: "I spent a very enjoyable summer 'tripping around'. Went to New York with my family, then on to Montreal and Quebec, which I found very quaint and foreign. It was interesting to be in a country that is at war. Later I visited Eloise in Asheville, and now I am at home, doing some Red Cross work for defense. In December Eloise and I are planning a little spree in New York. I feel so lost without Wesleyan this fall. I would graduate just when they're making so many interesting changes. I think I shall have to come over and see you all soon. It's much too long until Thanksgiving."

Winnett Turner has been back to Wesleyan once this fall, and said at the time that she had tentative plans of going to Columbus to take a business course.

Amelia Weatherly is taking a business course in Cochran, Ga.

Sarah Webb: "I am at Garrett Institute and Northwestern, working toward my M. A. degree in the school of education, field of Guidance and Counseling. During the past summer I worked for a month in a department store, took a vacation and went to Lake Junaluska. Eleanor Shelton and I are rooming together in Garrett Dormitory."

Helen White is teaching English in Jacksonville at Landon Junior High School. She writes that she is planning to come back to Wesleyan for Thanksgiving.

Frances Wilson: "I worked in the A.A.A. office in Ft. Valley all summer. Now I am teaching the sixth grade in Swainsboro. I really do like teaching very much and Swainsboro is a grand place to live. I see Cris Spivey quite often."

HEADQUARTERS OF THE GENERALISSIMO
CHINA

Chungking, Szechuan
19 August, 1941

Dear Mrs. Lamar,

Your signature on the joint letter from the women leaders of America sent my thoughts back to Wesleyan, a welcome diversion amidst unending war and relief work and the shattering explosion of shells which the Japanese are showering over this city. (Although little of military value is accomplished by these raids, a great deal of suffering is caused among the civilian population.)

In spite of the constant interruptions of wave after wave of Japanese bombing planes, the work of organizing relief for wounded soldiers, refugees and others, preparing comforts for those in need, steadily continues. Just now we are preparing to open a village for the accommodation of wounded soldiers and their families, which, we hope, will, in time, become self-supporting.

The women of China appreciate greatly what sympathetic people in America are doing to alleviate the sufferings of our distressed.

Yours sincerely,

MAY-LING SOONG CHIANG
(Madame Chiang Kai-shek)

A DOUBLE OPPORTUNITY

More than thirty years ago, in 1908, there came to Wesleyan College, at Macon, a young girl from China, to join the student body. She was Mei-ling Soong. She quickly became one of the most popular girls on the campus. She stayed at Wesleyan for five years.

Today the little Mei-ling Soong is Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of China's great leader in her hour of greatest trial and, according to all observers, herself as vital a contributor to the defense of the new China as her distinguished husband.

A famous artist, Lazar Raditz, has painted a portrait of Madame Chiang Kai-shek. It is on display at the High Museum of Art in Atlanta. It is a marvelous piece of work.

The artist has given the picture to the China Emergency Relief Committee which, under the chairmanship of the noted novelist, Pearl Buck, is striving to raise $1,000,000 in this country toward meeting the terrible needs of China's war-wracked civilian population.

So, the committee has agreed to sell the portrait now here, for $1,500, and to give the entire sum to the cause of China Relief.

And the alumnae association of Wesleyan believes the portrait should, by every right, hang at Wesleyan, a permanent reminder of a great woman who studied there. So they are trying to raise the required $1,500 for the portrait's purchase.

They point out that not only will they thus secure the painting for Wesleyan, but at the same time they will make a contribution to China sufficient to feed 1,500 otherwise starving children, for a month, to provide anesthetics for 22,500 operations or to use in a myriad other needed ways.

All who can spare something to aid the alumnae association are asked to send contributions to Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie, of 4001 Club drive, Atlanta, national president of the association.

YES, YOU CAN STILL GET WESLEYAN PLATES, CUPS, AND SAUCERS

Many alumnae have written to ask if we have been able since the war in Europe to get supplies of the Wesleyan china, which is made in Etruria, England.

A recent letter from the Wedgwood branch office in Boston, Mass. says: "All we can say, under war conditions, is that the Wedgwood factory is intact and from time to time we receive shipments."

Fortunately, sometime ago, we ordered a reserve supply of Wesleyan china, and have held it in Boston awaiting orders. There is still some of this china, although certain colors or scenes may have been exhausted. Additional supplies of these have been ordered. As soon as we receive your order for Wesleyan china, we shall let you know whether we have on hand the pieces you want. If we do not, we can only hope that very soon a British boat will evade the submarines!

Help The Soong Sisters Save China!

HENRY R. LUCE, EDITOR OF "TIME" WRITES:

"I have recently been to China.

"And I know that in all the world there is no greater need than the need of China for your help today.

"GIVING TO CHINA RELIEF WILL BE THE GREATEST SINGLE THING WHICH CAN BE DONE BY PRIVATE CHARITY IN 1941 TOWARD THE REDEMPTION OF OUR WORLD THROUGH SACRIFICE AND FRIENDSHIP."

When our alumnae gift to China Relief reaches $1,500 we will be rewarded by this portrait being sent to Wesleyan. We hope to send much more than this required amount to help E-ling, Chung-ling and May-ling in their heroic struggle for their country and for democracy.

From—The Atlanta Journal, Nov. 8:

"Thereby hangs a two-fold opportunity for Wesleyan's alumnae and friends—the opportunity to present their college with a notable picture of a famous daughter and at the same time make a generous gift to the cause dearest her heart."

A book with the names of friends who contribute will be sent to Madame Chiang Kai-shek.
